STAC Welcomes New Facilitator

May, 2019

Stoneham Transportation Advisory Committee, an initiative of Stoneham CDC, is pleased to share the news that a new facilitator has come onboard to moderate regular monthly meeting for the summer and early fall. Join us in welcoming Laurie Calvert to the team!

Facilitator Biography

Laurie is originally from the Detroit area but after 29 years in Boston she considers New England home. After many years working for Boston area professional service firms, she completed a master's degree in Urban + Environmental Policy and Planning (UEP) from Tufts University where her focus was on the myriad of urban affairs and underlying policies that challenge our communities. She was most recently the COO of a professional services firm where she lead the change management and employee engagement efforts as the firm transitioned from private ownership to an employee-ownership model.

Laurie is the coach of a Somerville Youth Soccer League girls u12 team and she is on the field for reasons beyond soccer. She role models enthusiasm, resiliency, teamwork, and competitiveness with her players knowing full well that if their emotional tank is full, they will excel on the field.

When she isn't moderating STAC meetings or on the soccer pitch, you can find her running 5 miles or pedaling along the Minuteman Bike Trail. Laurie and her family live in Somerville and they are committed to the thriving, diverse city and that it has to offer.

Next Meeting

STAC will meet next on Thursday, June 6, 8am-9:30am at Stoneham Senior Center, 136 Elm Street, Stoneham. All are invited to attend the meeting and learn more about STAC and its mission or visit stonehamcdc.org, click on Get Involved.
